

The luminous diode in Primus' five-ounce PrimeLite Race headlamp provides a 200-meter beam when set on high; two lower settings allow the user to milk as much as 25 hours of light from four AA batteries. Submersible in one meter of water for 30 minutes, this is the light of choice for your nighttime waterborne pursuits—be they in an adventure race or just racy. $80, primuscamping.com

Camaro has been making wetsuits and on-water apparel in Europe for 40 years, and the Austrian company recently hit the U.S. market with seamless garments like the 3-mm Farmer John Freefall wetsuit. Available in men's and women's versions, the suit features grippy knees and extra flex in the back, shoulders, and knees and a soft, breathable, odor-neutralizing bamboo lining. $169.95, camaro.at

Take your tunes on the water with Seattle Sports' ActiveTrax Audio self-powered speakers and AM/FB/WB radio. Just dial in your favorite station or plug in your mp3 player to rock out in the outback. An integrated solar panel and hand crank assure battery-free power rain or shine, and the unit even provides back-up charging for your iPod and other USB-compatible devices. $39.95, seattlesportsco.com

Available at retail in early 2009, Yakima's LoPro SkyBox is constructed from 80 percent recycled plastic and provides 15.5 cubic feet of storage space. At 11.5 inches high, it's sized for tall vehicles and slipping under low garage doors, and features a self-activated solar light that automatically illuminates when the SkyBox is opened. yakima.com

GREEN GEAR PICKS

Sea To Summit promotes Leave No Trace ethics with several new products. Lightweight and compact, the 3.5-ounce aircraft-grade aluminum iPOOD! trowel ($16.95) features a hollow handle for matches and TP that slides into the shovel for storage.

The Kitchen Sink ($16.95-23) is available in 1.3-, 2.6, and 5.2-gallon sizes for washing dishes away from the waterway you enjoy paddling on overnight trips.

The coated nylon Trash Dry Sack (29.95-34.95), available in 10- and 20-liter sizes, packs out all you packed in. seatosummit.com

Primus purchases carbon offsets for every stove sold from its Eta-Power series, which use a heat exchanger to capture up to 80 percent of heat generated when cooking, making them the first 100 percent fuel-efficient stoves on the market. In turn, German-based BaumInvest funds a reforestation project in Costa Rica, which plans to plant more than 1,100 acres of teak and other native hardwood. primuscamping.com

A recyclable polypropylene upper and biodegradable cork/latex sole and footbed make Keen's Streetside Flips one pair of kicks that treads lightly on our fragile planet—when this sandal has taken it's last step, remove the upper and place it in your recycling bin and properly dispose of the outsole. $35, keen-footwear.com